

WE NOMINATE

Walker Woods Stevenson Jr., a veteran in the growing army of Princeton-New York commuters and a lifelong resident of New Jersey, who will be in the spotlight this weekend as some 1,200 Princeton University alumni converge upon Nassau Street, and the Dillon Gymnasium, for the annual mid-winter gathering of the University's long-working alumni volunteers. It will be the primary responsibility of the 47-year old Stevenson, now in his second winter as president of the 32,000-member National Alumni Association, to keep a day-long program moving on schedule—in spite of the pressures generated by a spate of committee reports, prize awards and formal addresses.

In an age when both quantity and quality education are linked more closely than ever before with the question of national survival, and with the advancement of the Free World's best interests, Stevenson, an able investment banker, has acted to concentrate his extra-curricular activities in the area of privately sustained education. Closely identified with the University ever since he completed his undergraduate studies with the Class of 1935, he has also presided over the Lawrenceville School's alumni association, has served six years on the Board of Trustees of Miss Fine's School and has even been president of the Board of Trustees of the Princeton Ballet Society.

Stevenson, who moved to Princeton from Montclair shortly after World War II, first to Griggstown and five years ago to 12 Library Place in the Borough, personifies the interests and efforts of the core of men and women upon whom has fallen a large share of responsibility for the on-going development of colleges and universities. Over the past quarter-century Stevenson, one of 38 members of his family to attend Princeton and great-great-grandson of John Witherspoon, Signer of the Declaration of Independence and sixth president of the College of New Jersey (1768-1794), has devoted 1,000's upon 1,000's of hours to an infinite variety of alumni offices.

While giving to Princeton, in the words of a classmate, as much "time and energy" as any living alumnus, Stevenson has been markedly successful in his profession. Upon graduation, he joined the New York-based investment firm of Hemphill, Noyes & Company. He started out in the research department, became a securities salesman and, subsequently, an "assistant in production." By 1946, the year following his return from destroyer duty in the Pacific, he had been designated general sales manager; in 1952 he was elevated to a partnership, charged with the direction of branch offices now scattered through 28 cities.

Affiliated with the Air Force's First Interceptor Command as a civilian volunteer in the early stages of World War II, Stevenson qualified for the Navy late in 1943 and, appropriately enough, attended indoctrination School here on the University Campus. He made the transformation from Wall Street banker to Tactical Radar Officer in less than a year—in time to participate with distinction in the invasion of Okinawa aboard the USS Tolman. In 1950-51, with characteristic drive and determination, he shook off the spectre of tuberculosis, not permitting what he considered a "brief interruption" to limit the pace and scope of his enthusiasms.

For his contributions as a volunteer citizen deeply concerned with the well-being of education; for relishing opportunities for community service, whether offered by Princeton Hospital or by a locally sustained day school; for insisting that "what others have done for me" is more important than "what I might do for them"; he is Town Topics' nominee for

JOBS FOR TEENS

New Bureau Is Proposed

Princeton's teen age young people, who have been the object of solicited concern by adults for many years because the community lacks many conventional recreation facilities, learned this week that they may have a chance to turn their leisure time to profit.

A committee working under the Council of Community Services has drawn up plans for a Youth Employment Service. This bureau would bring together young people who want after-school and summer jobs, and employers who could use a young helper for an hour or two every afternoon or during the summer.

"We have had enthusiastic response from everyone we have talked to," says Mrs.

Richard Schoch, chairman of the committee, "The Princeton Youth Council, under the Rev. Frank Huntington, has discussed it and they are very eager.

"The Chamber of Commerce endorses the idea, one service club is considering an initial gift of $500 to get us started. Two schools have offered for financial help if we need it, some schools have offered us the use of their guidance counselors, and the Y has said they will give us desk space."

Committee members emphasize that the Service is not yet in operation and that no wage has been set. However, there will be a meeting of the committee on Monday and its members hope that an early target date can be chosen at that time.

This is the way the Youth Employment Service would operate, according to present plans. Business firms and householders would tell the Service what kind of help they would like to have. Young people (minimum age 13) would sign up with the Service, indicating in a general way what kinds of work they can do. The Service would screen its young applicants as that, as far as possible, the right boy or girl would be sent to apply for the right job.

"Nothing is so discouraging to a sensitive teen-ager as the first 'turn-down,'" Mrs. Schoch points out, "and we hope to keep that kind of thing to a minimum by screening."

The Service will not present the applicant with a job on a silver plate under glass. The boy or girl must interview the employer and work out all job arrangements without the help of the Service.

Working papers are required. They may be obtained at 12 years of age, for certain kinds of farm work, but usually they are not needed until at least 13. These papers are available through school guidance counselors.

What Can I Do? What kinds of jobs would open for young people in this eighth-through-twelfth grade bracket? For many years Princeton High School's commercial department has placed its students in offices where they can obtain valuable experience in clerical work. This new pro-

What's the legal situation in hiring these boys and girls?

THREE WITH A PLAN: A Youth Employment Service which would bring together young people who want a job and employers who want employees, is now being formed by a committee of Princeton citizens. Mrs. Rowan Boone, left, one of the prime movers of the new service, confers with Thomas Serajardian, director of guidance at Princeton High School, and Mrs. Richard Schoch, chairman of the committee.

agers willing to fill whatever positions are open. It has been estimated that 50 to 60 boys and girls at Witherspoon Street School would be interested in jobs, and that ten to 15 actually need the money for essentials. At Valley Road, Principal John P. McKenna says that 80 per cent of the eighth grade boys and girls would be interested in earning money.

"These boys and girls need emotionally as well as financially, the rewards that a job can bring," says Dr. McKenna. "They are past the point where they need to play all the time."

PHIS Students Eager. No figures are available from Princeton High School, but Mr. Serajardian has indicated that many students are keenly interested. Private schools have been approached, and have offered enthusiastic cooperation although they have no figures on the number of students who might be interested.

In setting up the Youth Employment Service, the committee has had the advice of Miss Harrietta Arnold from the National Committee on the Employment of Youth. Miss Arnold came to Princeton in December to meet with the committee, representatives of various civic groups and the state employment service. (The committee hopes that the state may assign someone from the employment office to run the new service, but this is still uncertain.)

Members of the committee, besides Mrs. Schoch, the chairman, are Mrs. Edward Hogeboom, Edward Horner, Dr. McKenna, the Rev. Frank Huntington, Miss Beatrice Miles, Mrs. Raymond F. Miles, Mrs. Douglas Langston, Mrs. Herbert Hobler, Mrs. Rowan Boone, Mrs. Walter Hoffman and Mrs. Pat Vaughn.

The committee started last March after a group of members heard that Howard Stepp, the Borough's juvenile referee, before the Welfare Committee of the Council of Community Services.

"We're a bunch of women doing to work — what can we do?" they asked Mr. Stepp. He replied, "The best thing you can do is find jobs for these kids."

Now, a scant year later, the Committee is about ready to go into action.

"Give us one potential employer and one job," Mr. Schoch says, "and we're ready to start."

ABOUT THAT EAGLE
The Post Office, it turns out, has the eagle in both left and right talons and no olive branch at all.

An alert Princeton resident, head President John F. Kennedy referred to the fact that the American eagle holds arrows in one set of talons and an olive branch in the other. When he glanced at the eagle over the Post Office doors, he noticed that the Princeton eagle holds arrows in both left and right talons and no olive branch at all.

FOR THE GOLDEN YEARS: A residential apartment community, designed to provide comfort, security and recreational activities for older people, has been proposed by a group of Princeton residents. The new project by O. Kline Fulmer of Fulmer and Bowers. The structure has been designed to accommodate 400 to 500 persons, but it can be built on a wing at a time for 200 or 300 residents. The residential wings of the "C" contain both single and double suites, each with its own sun balcony and kitchenette. A year-round sun deck is on the roof. The center contains dining room, hospital infirmary, hobby shops, sewing rooms, TV parlors, art rooms, library, general lounge rooms and facilities for such games as billiards, shuffleboard and the like. There will also be an auditorium, meeting hall for entertainment and for religious services of various faiths. The site for the building has not yet been chosen.

TOPICS Of the Town

APARTMENT PLANNED

For Retired Persons. Plans were announced this week for a new $5 million, residential cooperative apartment community especially designed for single persons or married couples over 55 years of age who want comfort and security in their later years with out institutional regimentation.

To be called Princeton Manor House, it will be built on 25-30 wooded acres of land, ten minutes from Nassau Hall in the words of O. Kline Fulmer, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the new organization. No specific site has yet been chosen.

The non-profit, non-denominational community is to be financed by its residents as a cooperative. Prospective members buy a life-time occupancy contract which will cost from $5,500 to $12,000 for a single occupancy suite. One and two-bedroom suites will be available at higher prices.

In addition, the resident will pay a monthly operating charge which is expected to be somewhere between $120 and $140 per month per person. This charge will cover all meals, room cleaning, flat laundry, recreational facilities, utilities and real estate taxes.

If a member dies within two years of joining, his estate will receive a refund adjusted to the period of his occupancy and subject to the re-leasing of his apartment. If a member decides to move out, he will be reimbursed on a pro-rata basis.

Residents may take all their meals in the community dining room, but each apartment will have its own kitchenette. The monthly charge includes three meals a day. There will be private dining-rooms for family functions, and private guest rooms which may be used for visiting relatives.

A building such as this would require zoning variances in almost any community. In the Borough of Princeton, of course, there is not enough land in the Township, which is the "ten minutes from Nassau Hall" requirement, there is land, but not, at the moment, multiple housing land.

A draft ordinance providing for multiple housing is now being considered by Township Committees, but before introducing it formally, Committees hope to retain a Planning Consultant whose first job would be to examine this measure in some detail.

Proponents of the new project believe that it would bring to the community in which it is built, a $5 million rateable and no school children. It would also remove some 25-30 acres into the general category of "open space." Trustees of the corporation hope to purchase land and obtain necessary zoning variances in time for ground-breaking this year.

A Complete Infirmary. Residents will have the use of a complete infirmary equipped with pharmacy, radiological and therapy facilities and staffed 24 hours a day by nurses and aides. A physician will be available at all times. Some apartments will be connected to the infirmary for the convenience of ambulatory patients.

In addition to indoor game rooms, the apartment will have outdoor, golf-putting greens, individual garden plots, picnic facilities and extensive walks. A small bus will make several trips daily into Princeton so that residents need not have a car if they so prefer.

Applicants must be financially responsible and must pass a physical examination before entrance. Residents who become ill after entering the community will be cared for in the infirmary.

Trustees Listed. Trustees of the new organization are, besides Mr. Fulmer, Howard W. Stepp, registrar at Princeton University; Dr. W. H. French, investment counselor; the Rev. W. D. Wagner, executive director of the Fund for Theological Education; Dr. W. H. York, University physician; Bruce H. French, counselor at law; L. L. Laughlin, formerly associate director of admissions at Princeton University; Mrs. Roland T. Ely; and Kenneth Chorley, chairman of the executive committee for Colonial Williamsburg. Applications may be obtained from Princeton Manor House, 341 Nassau Street.

BOND ISSUE BACKED

For New Township School. Approval by $71 to 200 was obtained from Princeton Township residents for the proposed Community Park School in Tuesday's election. The vote backed a $1,150,000 bond issue for construction on the Community Gardens site.

A total of 1107 ballots was cast in tabulation continuing until after midnight. The turnout is equivalent to almost 25 percent of the electorate. The budget was also backed: 867-211 for current expenses and 885-181 for capital outlays.

A. Robert Trandel, the lone incumbent seeking reelection, led the ticket with 870 votes. Named with him were Mrs. Jean A. McAndrew, 741, and Mrs. Dorothy Schoch, 618. Mrs. Nabel Rogg polled 614.

Princeton Borough. With 240 votes, more than 4000 registered, Graham Rohrer, board president, led the ticket with 220. Elected with him were William K. Evans, 199, and Mrs. Bernice Miller, 198.

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is Walnut 4-2300.

SCHOOL OF DANCE
Mila Gibbons, WA 4-1822

Elvin E. Smith, the loser in the four-way race, polled 120. Current expenses were approved, 219-22; capital outlay, 224-19.

West Windsor. W. Bradford Craig, one of two incumbents seeking re-election, led the voting with 241. Jessie Coleman, Jr., likewise running for a new three-year term, was successful with 191.

The third member named was Mrs. Eleanor Dearborn with 191 while John R. Janick, the loser, polled 178. The budget was approved, 207-49.

Lawrence Township. The voters voted Henry P. Kohn, 447; Donald L. Supper, 383; and Samuel L. Hack, 353. The budget was approved, 191-191 for current expenses and 592 to 183 for capital outlay. Among the five defeated candidates was an incumbent, Harry Kihn, others were C. Dickey Dyer, 34, who lost by 13 votes; Thomas D. Tilton, Edward J. Dams and William N. Engler.

DEMOCRATS PICK HUGHES

As Candidate for Governor. Thomas Hughes, a Trenton attorney who has never before held public office, this week received organization backing for the ticket to challenge the governor of New Jersey. Major primary opposition on April 15 is expected to be coming as a result of Mr. Hughes' virtually unanimous endorsement at the last of a series of political meetings called by Gov. Meyner at Morven.

Former State Superior Court Judge Mr. Hughes resigned from the bench in November, 1957, to resume the practice of law. He and his wife and nine children live at 25 Whittier Avenue in Trenton. Catholic, Mr. Hughes would be the first member of that church to serve as New Jersey's governor if elected.

Republicans Split.

Meanwhile, Republicans in Mercer County, faced with the probability of at least a three-way primary battle, have divided again over endorsement of State Senator Walter H. Jones. A 12-to-11 vote in his favor, announced by County Chairman Joseph Herson, is unacceptable to backers of State Senator Wayne Dumont and former Mercer County Secretary James Mitchell.

A group of 13 Princetonians signed a statement of disapproval with the County Republican Committee's action and backing Mr. Mitchell as the far the best Republican candidate we can put before the voters in November. The group includes William H. Sword, Lee H. Bristol, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Cuyler, Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Elmer Alpert, Peter Scotece, David O. Johnson, John L. Hammer, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O. Hoyt.

NASSAU INN TO GROW

Expansion Planned. The Nassau Inn will be enlarged since its construction in 1937, according to an announcement made this week by Princeton Municipal Improvement, owners of the Palmer Square Hotel.

An addition, 50 by 75 feet, will be built on the north of the present guest wing, extending the wing all the way to the Halfway sidewalk line. The unit will contain 48 guest rooms—12 to a floor—and a new meeting room which will hold 300. The outdoor swimming pool, previously announced by the Inn, will not be built this summer.

With the addition of the new meeting room, the Nassau Inn expects to be able to accommodate three conferences simultaneously. The new addition itself will be a complete conference center with air-walled partitions which can be moved out. The 300-man meeting room will have blackboards, facilities for a public address system, numerous special electrical outlets and other conference aids, all of which can be equipped when the room is used for social functions, such as dances and banquets.

By using the new meeting room, which has been designed with a 12-foot beamed ceiling, and existing dining rooms, the Inn will be able to hold banquets for as many as 700 persons.

The new guest rooms will contain television and hi-fidelity sets, and the entire new unit will be air-conditioned through this central system.

P.M.I. hopes to begin construction in mid-March. It is expected that the new structure will cost $1 million, including the pool and terraces. The wing will be completed in March, 1962. William B. Tabb, hotel architect in New York, has designed the addition. Irwin M. Leighton of Philadelphia will be the contractor.

BUILDINGS FOR SALE

Conover Needs Buyer. The Conover Motor Garage building, which has been a Ford dealer on Chambers Street since 1928 and a dealer in Princeton since 1920, is offering its Chambers Street property for sale. The company plans to move all its operations to the Route 206 location in Montgomery Township where it has been chewing both new and used cars for the past two years.

The asking price for the Chambers Street property has not been revealed. Its true value, according to the Borough tax office, is $133,600. The property has 200 feet of frontage on Chambers Street and 260 feet deep. There are two automobile showrooms and a service department.

In Montgomery Township, Conover Motors now has five and one-half acres of land. The company plans to build a separate service facility with reception lounge and parts department. The present building will be a showroom which will be closed in front and open in the back.

If no buyer is found for the Chambers Street buildings, Conover Motors plans to develop the property, either as showrooms or apartments. Conover Motors was founded by Walter F. Conover, and has been open in recent years by his sons, Walter J. Conover, Jr. and George W. Conover.

For Council, said at Tuesday's meeting. The Borough will have to decide soon whether it wishes to participate in a community Gardens project and to what extent." He pointed out the need for establishing a relationship with Township groups already involved in the project.

Mr. Austen also stated that he felt it was "very likely" that creation of a joint committee would mean abandoning the present recreation system in the Borough and would involve hiring professional recreation personnel. The recommendations, which originated with the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Recreation, were referred to the Council's recreation committee for more detailed study.

Assessments for sidewalk repair on Hamilton Avenue met with opposition from a pair of Hawthorne Avenue residents. Clyde V. Kiser and David Turney asserted that money for sidewalk repair was appropriated without mention of assessing residents and that parts of the newly-laid sidewalk were already in need of repair.

Arthur T. Brakow, Borough engineer, replied that the contractor was under one-year bond to replace damaged sidewalk and attributed damage to the unusually severe winter. The assessments were then approved unanimously.

Council voted to set March 14 as the date for a public hearing to consider abolition of the household personal property tax. Mayor Raymond Male called the last "archaic" and said it could not be administered fairly. Councilman Walker commented, "representation without taxation" far current Borough residents, (See "Report from the Mayor," page 10.)

Council voted unanimously to participate in both a federal and a state and local community renewal program. The state and regional program will involve a contract with the state for continued planning, while the federal program will last only 18 months.

A traffic ordinance amendment, approved unanimously, provides for the installation of stop signs at Westcott Road and Library Lane. A recommendation by Council's safety committee that a traffic light be installed at Avalon Place and Bayard Lane was endorsed unanimously by Council and will be forwarded to the State Highway Department.

Moves to redistrict Borough election districts three and four seemed to reach a standstill Tuesday night. The Borough Attorney reported that the County Election Board would be more likely to install an additional voting machine rather than redistrict to meet population shifts.

NEW RATE ANNOUNCED

In Parking Fee Schedule. A new schedule of parking fines has been announced by Theodore T. Tams, Jr., magistrate of the Princeton Borough Municipal Court. The change will go into effect March 1.

Under the new system, uniform fines will be levied for the first and repeated offenses. The most significant example would be the change in the overtime parking fine. Henceforth, each parking violation will cost $2 instead of the former charge of $1 for the first offense which increased $1 for each successive offense in a calendar year.

The change was made when it was found that the present system is difficult and burdensome to administer. The city of Trenton and surrounding municipalities have already adopted a similar schedule, a study revealed. Mayor Raymond F. Male and the Borough Council have examined the new fines and have agreed with the advisability of the change.

THREE FINED

For Tavern Brawl. Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. levied fines of $35 each this week against Joseph H. Netter, 41 1/2 Witherspoon Street; Mrs. Doris Netter, 47 of Trenton; and James A. Wilson, 27, 284 Witherspoon Street, for fighting in Allen's Green Tavern, 150 Witherspoon Street. Mrs. Netter and Wilson were accused of assault and Joseph Netter of creating a disturbance while under the influence of alcohol.

In traffic court, Hans P. Bergmann, 21, 39 Chestnut Street, was fined $25 for parking too close to a fire engine. For operating a car with an expired registration, Mrs. Josephine Becharov-Durkovic, 39, 250 Franklin Avenue, was fined $15.

News Of The THEATRES

LOVERS, ELVES FROLIC
On a Midsummer Night. The second offering of the Shakespeare season, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," is an unequalled delight. The fantastic and antic doings of the Elizabethan Athenians are cohesively portrayed by the Association of Producing Artists, augmented by six Princeton elves.

The two-story stage again provides opportunities for imaginative staging, and the second level is well suited to the other-worldly cavortings of the fairies. The scaffolding is unadorned in this production.

The four lovers, played by Jacqueline Brookes, Janis Young, Michael Ebert, and Peter Levin, are delightfully ridiculous, and we can only agree with Puck—"What fools these mortals be!" It is Brookes who deserves special mention for her portrayal of Helena, who pursues her object (Mr. Levin) relentlessly, and with the aid of the spirits—successfully.

Miss Young, as Hermia, plays all aspects of her role, from wide-eyed innocence to unbridled fury, with dispatch. The two men make convincing and exaggerated lovers.

"Over Hill, Over Dale." Rosemary Harris, as Titania, seems to float, rather than walk, over the stage, and her flute-like voice is the fairy world that travels from midnight to dawn. Her attendants, barefoot and clothed in comically ragged trousers, add immeasurably to the charm of these scenes.

Richard Easton, as Oberon, is kingly and majestic—and all too human in his wishes. The descriptive passages and poetic lines come across very well in these capable hands.

The all-important role of Puck, alias Robin Goodfellow, is superbly taken by Nicholas Marx, who combines the poetry and impishness of the part with ease. As Oberon's henchman, he effortlessly sounds in and out of the darkness to cast his spell on the lovers. His chase scene with Lavander and Demetrius is a masterpiece.

Well Met by Moonlight. High points of the play are the rehearsal and performance of a tedious brief scene of young Pyramus and his love, Thisbe, very tragically mirth. Keene Cutler, as Bottom, begins in an overly exaggerated fashion to create the role of buffoon, but develops his drollery into plausible implausibility by the time he acquires his ass's head.

Ralph Dirschell, as the lion, roars magnificently. Philip Andrus is an extremely coy Thisbe, and Tucker Ashworth plays a lugubrious moon. The extremely vocal wall is portrayed by a wide-eyed Rex Robbins, who is utterly oblivious of the laughter he provokes.

David Hooks makes a marvelous Quince, who does his best to organize the "trude mechanicals." The last act of the play, when these six give their performance, is worth a bottle of vitamins.

Mura Matinees Planned. Eight school matinees have been added to the five originally scheduled, following sold-out houses and increased demand. School matinees for which seats are available include "A Midsummer Night's Dream" on Wednesday, March 1, "King Lear" on March 2, "Twelfth Night" on March 3 and 8, and "As You Like It" on March 8.

With this rescheduling, the following evening performances have been cancelled: "Twelfth Night" on March 1 and 6, "King Lear" on March 2, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" on March 3, and "As You Like It" on March 16.

Over 10,000 students have already bought tickets for the plays at the reduced school rate.

"Twelfth Night" will open next Thursday, February 22, with Richard Easton playing Orsino, Ellis Rauh as Malvolio and Rosemary Harris as Viola. The second performance will be given at 8:30 next Friday.

"King Lear" will be presented this Thursday and Saturday at 8 p.m., with a 2 p.m. matinee scheduled for Sunday, February 26. "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be repeated this Friday and next Saturday, February 25, at 8:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling McCarter at WA 1-8700, or writing Box 556.

good in a role tailored especially for her.

Set in and around Las Vegas, the story concerns a wealthy young divorcee and her entanglements with an aging cowhand. Mr. Miller overlooks no opportunity to let us know that this Apparently Simple Story is really invested with Cosmic Significance. The intrusive symbolic structure seems to have been tacked on by a palsied paperhanger, and its resolution is neither profound nor original. Peter De Vries has a word for it: Symbol Simon.

The Wackiest Ship in the Army (February 22-24) is the worst picture Jack Lemmon has made in two years, but the best the Playhouse has shown in five weeks. Lemmon himself is brilliant, as always. It's ironic that it took a basically serious film, "The Apartment," to bring about universal acceptance of Lemmon as a comic actor of the very first rank. It's ironic—in addition to all the obvious reasons—because now Hollywood apparently is not going to let him do any more straight faces.

Which brings us to "The Wackiest Ship in the Army," an oddly disintegrated war film that is highly successful when it's being funny, but diffident and dull when it's being serious.

Lemmon is a young naval officer who is put in charge of a broken-down schooner in Australia. The crew is incompetent. Other officers are out to make Lemmon's life miserable. So far, so funny. But now the boat sets out to sea to do perpetual battle with the Japanese, and the film's "message" shifts from "People are funny" to "War is hell."

Ricky Nelson is the co-star. At one point he sings "Do You Know What It Means to Miss New Orleans?" Oldsters who remember Billie Holiday's rendition of the song in an otherwise undistinguished production called "New Orleans" may find it helpful to have carapages ready for this sequence. The title is in CinemaScope and color.

Apparently feeling that Rick Nelson is strong stuff for kids, the Playhouse is offering a special young people's show at 1 P.M. on Saturday. The cartoons will be briefly interrupted by a CinemaScope epic called, "Sing Boy Sing." The star is Tommy Sands, whose chief musical distinction is that he is Frank Sinatra's son-in-law.

THE GARDEN

Oscar Wilde (February 14-18)—not to be confused with "The Green Carnation" (nee "The Trial of Oscar Wilde")—covers the playwright's involvement with the son of the Marquis of Queensbury, the morals trial where Wilde's blinding wit was insufficient to save his career, and his subsequent destruction.

The cast features Phyllis Calvert, John Neville, Sir Ralph Richardson and Robert Morley as Wilde. Jo Eisinger wrote the screenplay, and Gregory Ratoff directed with intelligence and taste. The cast is fine, with Morley and Richardson particularly impressive. Unless they've completed the introductory course in Times see Williams, youngsters will be better off watching a restful television program. Recommended.

La Strada (February 20), which won 1966's Oscar as best foreign-language film and set longevity records at a New York art house, is a strangely poignant drama starring Anthony Quinn, Giulietta Masina and Richard Basehart. Dealing with the relationship between a wandering, brutish circus strong man and a half-wit girl, the film is acted and directed with tenderness and skill.

There are two versions of this Italian film in circulation: one with dubbed English dialogue and one with subtitles. The Garden didn't know in advance.

VIKING FURNITURE
For Moderns. There isn't much about Route 33 to remind you of old sea-raiders with long blond beards, so you may be somewhat surprised to learn of the Viking Furniture Shop, which has established itself on Route 33, not because the terrain is particularly Scandinavian, but because it's a good place to have a little furniture shop.

We use the term "little" in a relative sense: Viking is not an immense barn of a showroom. It is, rather, a spacious shop which is full to the brim of goods of Scandinavian—chiefly Danish—furniture and accessories. In this place you can buy anything from a set of exquisite little teak egg cups to a regal rosewood sideboard, from a portable fireplace to a linen tapestry hanging from Sweden.

The rosewood buffet is six feet long with 10-inch stainless steel legs to hold it off the floor. The front looks like a solid piece of oiled rosewood, but it has been artfully made into two tambour doors that slide around inside the chest when you push them open.

Unless you feel the wood carefully with a finger you cannot detect the divisions that give it the tambour flexibility. Pretty impressive, on the whole.

Another sizeable piece is the cocktail table 33 by 52 inches, made of walnut with spruce spines that run the length of the table. On a more modest scale, there are nests of tables that combine walnut and tile work.

Gerdau has designed the Scandinavian Clipper chair, a recliner-with-ottoman that has a sculptured upholstery back and shapad wooden arms that give the impression of a gull in flight. The same designer presents a dining table, trellis style, that opens to 102 inches. Buy a matching bench in teak, or choose it in black.

Those Swedish tapestries consist of stylized groups of figures woven with high color into linen pieces about the size of tea towels up to some about as large as a tablecloth. There's "Cactus," "Women With Long Hair," and so on.

A Danish styled hanging system will appeal to people with small floors. The system includes wall desks that fold out, magazine racks, hi-fi cases, glass - doored cupboards, shelves, a small chest, and so on. There are said to be 16 million possible combinations, but who has such a big wall?

Viking Furniture maintains a clearing service, incidentally, which you may use without charge. The shop will take you to any showroom in New York while you search for the precise piece you want. But the Route 33 shop itself is so full of every conceivable piece of furniture for people who decorate in the Scandinavian manner that really all you need to do is stand in the middle of the shop and say "I want that!"

Those fireplaces, by the way, start at $139 and go to $100. You reach Viking Furniture by driving out Quaker Bridge Road to Clarksville, then continuing to Mercerville until you run into Route 33. Turn left (northeast) and drive on Route 33 for about two miles.

The shop is on the left, one of a group of shops all under one roof. Hours are 1 p.m. to 9 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

WHILE YOU'RE UP
Consider Gretchen's. People who buy furniture don't necessarily sew, but after you've visited Viking, you might just as well keep going along Route 33 until it joins Route 130. After you've gone along 130 for a time, you will come to Gretchen's Fabrics, which you can recognize as a good light year away by the immense sign painted on the roof.

The long and the short of it here is spring wool, spring silk, spring linen. Look at the cashmere in bright pink (big color this spring), pale butter gold, apricot, powder or Dior blue. Some are in a Jaquard pattern, some with a faint self-check, all 54 inches wide.

Silk linen looks like shantung but wears better. You'll find it at Gretchen's in black, brown, beige, navy, bright pink and pale flesh. Gretchen, an expert needlewoman, likes to suggest fabric combinations and she showed us an opulent beige gold wool which would combine beautifully with silk linen in a zinnia print of sand, coffee and beige.

Linen has been exposed to some all - over embroidery which makes it memorable enough for a special spring and Lighting fixtures. In the form of table lamps, chandeliers, hanging lamps and goodness knows what else are particularly important in the scheme of things at Viking Furniture, the shop whose other felicities we discuss elsewhere on this page.

Two Danish cylinders hang from the ceiling, one slightly higher than the other, each one wrapped with lengthwise strands of brown or rust wool. A standing cylinder, about a foot high, has been similarly wrapped with a natural wool yarn that filters the yellow light in a warm and pleasant manner.

Tanier chandelier suspends eight frosted glass globes from a teak yoke in a magnificent dining-room light fixture, and the same frosted glass appears in small occasional lamps as well, sometimes enhanced by colored glass, sometimes by teak or walnut.

summer dress - probably a sheath, wouldn't you say? Turquoise embroidery on white, wide - spaced petit point on lilac, yellow spring flowers on white.

Prints are brighter and more dramatic than you have seen them in many seasons. A silk print comes in hot pink, bright mustard and lime, with colors nuzzled together as though they were pieces of broken glass. In its complementary print of purple and emerald, there is quite a stained glass effect. Another silk print is turquoise on white with orchid leaves.

But don't be alarmed. There is a quiet gleam plaid in tan - Continued on Page 8

Other works to be performed are Vaughan Williams'
Fantasia on a Theme of Thomas
Tallis, and Mozart's Sinfonia Concertante in E Flat Major for Violin, Viola, and Orchestra.

Vincent Place and Karen Tuttle, orchestra members, will play the violin and viola parts respectively in the Mozart work. Tickets for the performance, which will begin at 8:30, are available at the University Store.

RAY AND RAELETS COMING

For February 23 Concert, Ray Charles will be joined in his February 23rd Concert in Dillon Gym by the Raelets,
a girl trio who have appeared with Mr. Charles many times during the last few years. His eight-piece orchestra will accompany the group.
A special sound system will be set up in the gym by PEB attractions in conjunction with WTRB, so that the music may be heard in the balcony. That area will be available for standing room. Tickets, priced at $3.25, $2.50 and $1.75, may be bought at the University Store through FEB, Box
591, Princeton.

ORGAN REITAL SET

For Thursday at 8:15.
Dr. Thomas Richner, professor of music at Douglass College, will give an organ recital this Thursday evening at 8:15 in Trinity Church.

Preceding the program, which will include classical modern compositions, a short film on the life and work of Healey Willan will be shown.
Mr. Willan was a Canadian composer. Dr. Richner's appearance is sponsored by the Princeton chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

Next Thursday, Members of the Princeton Music Club will have their next Thursday, February 23, at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. A. N. Spanel, 324 Stockton Street, for an evening of music.

Rachel Armstrong, Thomas
Richner and Horace Martinez will be guest performers. Ho-tesses will be Victoria Peña, Kathryn Strong and Louise Stranovsky.

Art on a High Level

A group of oils by Freda R.
Mayer has been arranged on the walls of McCarter Theatre's upper lobby to entertain groundlings and stints who like to commune with one art during the intermission of another.

The Xlitter oils, executed on panels, will be on display through March 4. From March 4 to 21, there will be a group of large oil canvases by George Sears Greene, and after the Greene exhibit, there will be a show of framed modern graphic works which will continue until April 1.

Gallery.

works, are Max von Sydow, Birgitta Valberg, Gunnel Lindholm and Birgitta Pettersson.

Based, we are told on a 13th century legend and a Swedish folk song, the story concerns a young girl who sets out happily for a long ride to church, where she intends to light candles for the Holy Virgin.

Along the way she is raped and murdered. Her father later seeks out and slaughters her attackers, and finally questions God as to why one so innocent as his daughter should have been the victim of such evil. Eventually the father promises to build a church on the spot where his daughter died, and a spring miraculously trickles forth and bursts into a stream at the site.

As indicated, some of the above is pretty brutal stuff.
This department has some thoughts on the increasing sadness of the movies, but we will hold off expressing them until the next Alfred Hitchcock or Walt Disney film comes around. "The Virgin Spring" is too fine a motion picture for such protests to be meaningful. Recommended.

Examine a light cherry wool with subtle, but beautiful, sage dian jacket whose sleeve has a terminal slit instead of a cuff.

There is a sheer knit blouse in exactly the same color to go underneath. It has short sleeves. This three-piece suit also comes in a rich, powder blue or a deep lilac. Another style with big jacket comes in a tweedy blue or tweedy light green. This is a standard collar and self buttons.

A linen suit from Davidow comes in powder blue with four flaps concealing four front pockets. The jacket has a casual notch at the hemline and coat hangers. A silver gray suit in red has two pockets placed squarely in the middle of the jacket, midway between hem and shoulder. Davidow's imported cotton has four-square pockets and a peaceful fan-glen plaid. (Woods in Davidow's, too, but you probably know this already.)

Given a plain—an unusual pattern for spring, but around quite a lot this year—has been used to make a jacket dress in calton. There is a flat bow at the neckline of the dress and it shows between the revers of the jacket collar.

Pettie sizes will welcome a silk print, stained glass style, with lime lining inside the jacket and a wide neckline on the dress. Another petite in quite a different vein, is made of white nylon with horizontal stripes of raspberry, purple, green and blue against white.
The dress is a sheath with wide straps and a square neckline. Flattering ribbons of blue and green come down the skirt from the belt.

Just to make you wistful about the spring, Mayme Mead had white Bermuda with life-size daisies, pansies and zinnias sown all over the white field. Solids are royal purple linen, or melon or lime. Other prints are Joseph-eat hop-sacking, or blue cornflowers on white.

Reply to Mr. Samuels.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
As the "perpetrator" of a resolution which was unanimously adopted at the last annual meeting of the Princeton Hospital Corporation, February 29, 1960, perhaps you will permit me to answer as briefly as possible one or two points of fact in Mr. Samuels' letter of last week.

This resolution called for the appointment of a committee by the hospital trustees to study and report on the basic principles of (1) methods of obtaining a broader corporation membership and (2) the desirability of rotation in the election of trustees. This committee of the Friends of the Princeton Hospital (including Mr. McAlpin) were aware of this initial action.

But as the months rolled by, and the December deadline for Hospital Corporation membership approached and there was still no report from this committee, either through the press, letters, word of mouth, or in any manner — not even bills for renewed dues from present members — then and only then were the trustees of the Princeton Hospital organized. As one of its original sponsors I can testify that this was a spontaneous reaction which gained rapid impetus purely on its merits and with a minimum of solicitation, and has therefore proved conclusively that community interest in the hospital is far greater than its trustees realized or than I even hoped. I am only sorry that the activity came from the outside in, rather than from the inside out.

Secondly, Mr. Samuels states that of the 20 names of families or individuals factually there were over 30 in the three published advertisements sponsoring the Friends; only five had previous to 1960 been members of the corporation. The implication in this statement, Mr. Samuels, is not quite cricket! Yet nothing could point out more cogently the very point the Friends wish to make: the need for more citizens to join the Hospital Corporation and for more information on how to do so.

For if you will look at the roster you will find that all of these people give — their sponsorship have been contributors to the hospital in many ways, some over a very long period: to the several special building funds, to the School of Practical Nursing, to the United Community Fund, as volunteer workers and even as patients. But because of this special unpublishable and little known rule about the extraordinary contribution of the 35 who were not members of the corporation, they are not new friends at all, but very old friends and their one objective is the welfare of the Princeton Hospital and the Princeton community.

Struggle Disengaged.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The Princeton Childbirth Education League voted at a regular board meeting in 1960 to disengage itself from further political struggle with the Princeton Hospital. Our past efforts were consuming too much energy and were distracting us from our main purpose of childbirth education.

Three of our members are also active, as individuals, with the Friends of Princeton Hospital. (Most people in Princeton belong to more than one organization.) Otherwise, the only common denominator to both PCELE and the Friends of Princeton Hospital is a wish for the best possible hospital for this community.

Mrs. Rebecca Suckin
President, Childbirth Education League

Hospital Care Excellent.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
It seems to me that statements made by the "Friends" of Princeton Hospital as reported in your February 5-11 issue give a very misleading picture of the hospital. They seem to ignore the most pertinent question of all — what kind of care does a patient at Princeton Hospital receive?

In the past six years, members of our immediate family have been patients at Princeton Hospital on seven different occasions for periods ranging from two days to two weeks. Our experience has included the maternity and pediatric departments as well as general hospital care and has run the gamut of ward, semi-private and private accommodations.

I, myself, was a patient for almost two weeks a little more than a year ago; another member of the family was there for two weeks within the past three months. On each occasion we have been greatly impressed by the skill and efficiency of the staff, the excellent food, the high standards of cleanliness and perhaps most important — the genuine attitude of friendliness and concern.

It is my understanding that several independent authorities have given Princeton Hospital an excellent rating after careful study.

Since the responsibility for running a hospital must ultimately rest with its board of trustees, I for one, would like to commend the Board of Trustees of Princeton Hospital for the fine hospital care available in this community.

"Not to Destroy—To Fulfill."
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Since the organization of the Friends of Princeton Hospital appears to have engendered many "inquiries" as to its nature and motivation, we as members of its Executive Committee would like to make certain facts absolutely clear.

First, our purposes are set forth in our Constitution as follows:

(1) To assist and support the Princeton Hospital in its efforts to provide the best medical care for the citizens of this Community.
(2) To bring about and maintain a large and representative membership of the Hospital Corporation.
(3) To secure the nomination and election of the most qualified persons as Trustees of the Hospital, in accordance with the general principle of rotation in office.

(4) To insure government of the Hospital Corporation which is responsive to the interest and needs of the public.
(5) To assist the Hospital in raising funds for capital improvements and other purposes.
(6) To secure the best possible relations between the Hospital and the Community at large.

Second, the group was organized because many people believed, from their observation of and experiences with the Hospital over the past several years, that only by such organization could their objectives be achieved.

For example, we are informed that two years ago Continued on Page 10

Report from THE MAYOR

A Matter of Judgment. It is often the case that important decisions cannot be made by slide rule or automatic tabulating machines. When all the facts are gathered, the selection of the right alternative depends on the exercise of sound judgment on a host of factors that can not be weighed or measured with absolute precision.

Such a problem will face Mayor and Council in connection with the proposed abandonment of the household personal property tax. Chapter 51 of the Laws of 1960 allows each municipality the option of retaining or abandoning this tax.

Based on the factual reports and views of our Assessor, Ed Warren, and after long consideration of the pros and cons, it has been decided to introduce on Tuesday the ordinance that will kill this awkward and inequitable tax. A public hearing on the ordinance will provide the citizens a chance to state their views on this controversial subject and we should try to provide some background information to help with their consideration.

A Shift of Burden. One fact is that in 1960 this tax on household personal property was levied on the basis of an assessment of $885,110 in owner-occupied real estate. In 1960 the rate of $6.13, the tax yield from this source was $54,257.

In addition, an assessment on such property in rental properties amounted to $287,775, with a tax yield of $16,451. The abandonment of this form of taxation would therefore shift the combined total of $70,611 to the other assessment base.

Council wrestled with the problem of determining how much effect this move would have on individual homeowners. The answers are hypothetical; but the evidence seemed to be convincing that this shift would be minor. If the move would be the fairest solution to a long-standing New Jersey tax headache, let's leave the tax on the books. The move would be the fairest solution to a long-standing New Jersey tax headache, let's leave the tax on the books.

It is a fact, not an opinion, that the present system is unfair, inequitable, and almost impossible to administer. It is a fact, not an opinion, that the move would be the fairest solution to a long-standing New Jersey tax headache, let's leave the tax on the books.

It is not an easy subject. But it affects us all.

Safety on Bank Street. On Friday afternoon, the Borough Safety Committee, under the leadership of Councilman, met with seven residents of Bank Street to review a number of safety problems.

The next steps include study, and report from the Chief of Police and the Borough Engineer with respect to specific details of the proposals. The safety committee will, at its next regular meeting, present recommendations to the Council for action.

On the Schedule. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Town" sessions will be held on Friday, February 17, and Friday, February 24, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is necessary for these informal meetings.

Also on last week's schedule, the delightful dinner-dance of the P.B.A., an occasion when Borough and Township officials and their wives enjoy a social get-together. A highlight was the presentation of life, memberships to retired Sgt. Carl Anderson of the Borough, and to retired Township Engineer Louis Gerber. Each had served some 30 years.

The same evening, the Princeton Lions Club held their annual benefit dance. On Thursday, the Mayor also met with the new Joint Library Board. This is a strong board and its members are working together in a concerted effort to improve library service to this community.

Then, guests at the meeting were Dr. Joseph Wheeler, a distinguished literary expert, the author of the 1958 report on the Princeton library, and for many years librarian of the famous Enoch Pratt Library in Baltimore. As a laborer of love, Dr. Wheeler had discovered possible sites for a future Princeton library adequate to our needs and he mixed his words in spelling out his recommendations.

There are, of course, no present building plans. But the new board faces the cold fact that the present quarters at the Balnharrie House are bulging at the seams.

Mailbox

There were only 29 annual members of the Hospital Corporation, and last year there were 77. At the 1960 annual meeting, a motion was adopted for the purpose of greatly enlarging the membership, but no action by the Trustees has been taken until after the Friends started their membership drive, late in the year. Now, largely as a result of the Friends' organization, there are about 750 annual members, in addition to a fairly small number of about 100 life members. Membership in the Corporation is of vital importance not only because of the participation and support, but also because Trustees can be chosen only from among the members.

Moreover, at the last annual meeting a motion was adopted that the name of one who has since joined the Friends) that a committee be appointed by the Trustees to study and recommend changes in the by-laws to recognize the principle of rotation in office; and understand that such a study was made but no results thereof have yet been made public or acted upon by the board.

Third, we have not taken it upon ourselves either to judge the merits of the various controversies and complaints in which the Hospital has been involved, or to take any hard and fast position with respect to the number of consecutive terms which a Trustee should serve. As in the first, we ask only that a fresh look be taken at the situation by some new and qualified Trustees.

As to the principle of rotation, we recognize also the need for continuity and for striking a happy balance between the merits of change and the merits of continuity. With nine out of the 15 elected Trustees having served terms from nine to 18 years, we do have the feeling that the balance has been too heavily weighted in favor of self-perpetuation.

Finally, as a group we do not necessarily endorse the individual views or grievances of any particular member. An organization we seek only of the attainment of our stated objectives; and we sincerely hope that the members of the club have cleared away, both the Hospital government and the community will find that we have come not to destroy but to fulfill.

Thanks from the Harts.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We are making possible a copy of the letter we have sent to the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., the Borough and Township Police Department, and the Princeton Fire Department.

"We should like to express our profound gratitude to all who responded so immediately to our recent call for help: to the telephone operator for her quiet efficiency, to the police for their prompt arrival in our rescue, and to the three volunteers fire companies of Princeton for their extraordinary efforts on that bitterly cold night of January 30th in stubbornly fighting what must have seemed a well-nigh hopeless battle."

"I had by no means lost the dedication of everyone present, and the dogged persistence of our volunteer fire companies in destruction of our house would have been complete. In addition, the sympathetic concern of one and all for our situation, and the individual offers of help which went far beyond the call of duty, will always be deeply appreciated."

"To the countless kind friends and neighbors who rallied to our aid with offers of shelter, warmth and food, doing whatever was humanly possible in the emergency, we can only again repeat our heartfelt though inadequate thanks. It would be impossible to enumerate the hundreds of generous and thoughtful ways in which they have given us comfort and cheer in a time of trouble."

"It has long been a commonplace that to be 'citizens of Princeton' is an honor and a privilege, but the phrase has been brought home to us in an unforgettable way."

Rescue Equipment Inadequate.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I read your account of the fire which struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hart, and I was pleased to note that the local fire companies performed faithfully in combating it. For this they should be commended.

However, the circumstances of the rescue of the couple only strengthened an opinion I earlier expressed as to the weakness of the present system of getting help to such a disaster. A very slight change in the situation might have brought tragic loss of life besides what damage was done to property. Had the parents involved been children, had there been no porch roof, and had there been no ladder, the result might have been even more tragic. It is easy to imagine how much more costly the fire might have been.

I believe that this event should be taken as a warning that until we provide for the instantaneous dispatch of adequate rescue equipment to fires we are playing fast and loose with human life in this community.

DR. BASSETT NAMED

Head of Jordan School, Dr. Robert Bassett, headmaster of the Columbia Boychord School since 1956, will leave next September for Ramapo, N.J., to become headmaster of the Jordan, where he will direct the Friends Boy School. The American Friends Board has named Dr. Bassett to the position.

Dr. Bassett will serve as director of the Boychord camp at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware this summer. He was previously, from 1954 to 1956, headmaster of the Friends School in 1951 and 1952.

William M. Lanning, president of the Boychord School of trustees, said following the acceptance of Dr. Bassett's resignation that he was as we hope to lose the fine leadership he has given school for five years, he must resign. Dr. Bassett's decision to return to the Middle East to head a school which affords Christian and Jewish youth in an area where education is still a sought-after privilege rather than a birthright. Dr. Bassett is a member of the committee to select a new headmaster. Others included Mrs. Olga A. Kanner and James S. Thompson, both of Princeton, and Donald T. Bryant, musical director of the school.

Obituaries

Mark De Motte Letherman, Jr. 36, son of Mr. and Mrs. Letherman of 59 Bayard Lane, died in an automobile accident February 10 in Hollywood, Cal. A film editor, he attended New York University and the University of Southern California, and served in World War II.

Mrs. Edna Mason Schanck, 45, of 9 Hamilton Avenue, died February 9 in Helene Fuld Hospital, Trenton. The wife of Edmund Schanck, she was a member and past matron of Hopewell Chapter 112, OES; the Hopewell Fire Company Auxiliary; and the Hopewell Presbyterian Church and its sewing circle.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, Robert E. Schanck; her father, Claude Mason; a brother, Warren Mason, both of Trenton; and a sister, Mrs. Charles Kinney of Fenington.

The Rev. John H. Ginter officiated at the funeral, held in Hopewell. Burial was in Highland Cemetery.

Mrs. Grace Johnson Brian died February 15 in Chestnut W. Va. Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson, she had moved from Princeton more than 30 years ago. At one time, she was employed by the Princeton University Library and she was a member of the Second Presbyterian Church.

Her survivors include her husband, Dick Brian, whom she married in 1927; a son, James Brian of Chicago; a daughter, Mrs. Susan Mackall, in Japan; a sister, Mrs. Helen Mahoney of Richmond, Va.; and four grandchildren.

The funeral and interment will be held Friday in West Virginia.

The proposal of Mrs. Paula Potts to sell five plots on Riverside Drive and Prospect Avenue was tabled until the owner can provide the Board with additional information on the location of an old pond, and supply certain technical data on drainage.

John F. Mount, Planning Board member, questioned the "buildability" of the land because of the nature of fill used in the area, but Joseph Shinn, building inspector, said that tests could easily determine whether the land was suitable for foundations.

In its second action, the Board tabled the request of John Moore, State Road, to allow the Atlantic Refining Company to build a station on the junction of State Road and

Mothers Net $3,000

Members of the Mothers' March committee collected over $3,000 for the local March of Dimes campaign, reports Mrs. P.J. Wainford, committee chairman.

The coffee party committee, directed by Mrs. Theodore Potts and Mrs. R.D. McGilver, raised about $1,000. The special gifts committee, headed by R.L. Lenhart, has received contributions totaling $1,500.

Malcolm G. Wagner, general director, stated that the final total for the drive will exceed $7,500. This figure is less than the amount raised last year, but this year's drive covers a smaller area.

Cherry Valley Road, fronting on both the request was tabled to await a study by the state of the Cherry Valley-Route 206 intersection.

MUSTER DAY SET

By National Guard. Campaign 2 of the National Guard will sponsor a display on its annual "Muster Day," this Saturday. From 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., two tanks with National Guard crews will be at the Princeton Shopping Center. Several merchants will have window displays on a National Guard theme.

On Sunday, the public is invited to the Army on River Road where the Princeton unit will be training. Those interested in joining the National Guard may do so on either Saturday or Sunday.

After 29 years with the Princeton National Guard, Captain Stanley M. Donald has transferred to a neighboring unit. He will be honored during this year's Muster Day celebration. Captain Donald was commissioned as a second lieutenant during World War II.

FANS TO BE TOPIC

Of Women's Club Speaker. Mrs. Jack H. James of Philadelphia, owner of a valuable collection of fans, will address a meeting of the Women's College Club Monday at 3 at the Unitarian Church, where she will discuss the origin and history of fans in a talk entitled "The Fascination of Fans."

The annual neighborhood Teas will be held between February 27 and March 10, it was announced by Mrs. Taylor Fish, Neighborhood Activities Chairman. Each member will be notified by her area chairman regarding a definite date for the teas in her area.

MRS. WILSON TO SPEAK

On Flowers of Japan. Mrs. Harry L. Wilson, who has toured Japan, will show slides and discuss the flowers and shrubs of Japan at the annual luncheon of the Lawrenceville Garden Club on Tuesday at 1 at the Nassau Inn.

Hostesses for the luncheon will be Mrs. Joseph E. Alloway, Mrs. Henry Esch Jr., Mrs. Loy Barton, Mrs. William M. Boyd and Mrs. Alfred Coley. Reservations may be obtained from Mrs. Barton before Friday.

Taxes to Be Topic

A public educational program featuring a new film, "Pupils, Schools and Taxes," will be presented Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Princeton High School auditorium. The program has been arranged by the Princeton High School PTA and the Borough Elementary PTA with the cooperation of the Borough Board of Education.

The film deals with the problem of financing schools and explores the possibility of raising school money through a new state tax instead of through additional property taxes. The film was produced by the Committee for School Support, a committee endorsed by the N. J. Congress of PTA's, the N. J. Education Association, the N. J. School Superintendents Association, and the State Federation of District Boards of Education of New Jersey.

Lewis R. Applegate of the N. J. Education Association will present the film at Tuesday's meeting. A question and answer period will follow the showing.

Question of the Week

Question: Was this winter, the worst since 1881, proved to be annoying or enjoyable to you?

Where asked: Palmer Square
Renate R. Carazani, 19 Leigh Avenue, electrician: "I haven't been enjoyable, I can say that. I keep thinking of the poor animals out in the field. I'm a hunter and I know these animals are starving. The hawk is gone and the honeycreeper is gone and I don't think even a deer wants to dig through two feet of snow to get food. People worry about animals being killed. In a winter like this, it is a question of either starving to death or being shot by a hunter. They can have the old-time winters as far as I'm concerned. I hope one like this doesn't come too often."

Laurence Hunt, 63 Stanwix Lane, third-grader: "Well, I think it was fun, except when I got too wet and had to stay in all day."

Laura Schleyer, 184 Prospect Avenue, kindergarten: "Enjoyable, 'cause there's snow and I like to play and throw snowballs with my friends."

Mrs. Adeline Provanzo, 42 Caroline Place, housewife: "Both. Annoying because we haven't been able to shovel enough to get out, but it had been enjoyable for the children. And we have had a lot more home life. We enjoy it less dinner, sit down, talk and enjoy each other's company—something we haven't done in a long time. For once everybody isn't in a rush to go some place."

Robert Viers, 33 Allison Road, student, Princeton County Day School: "It's been very annoying to me because I've been out most of the day shoveling snow."

Miss Jacqueline Brooks New York City, actress: "Since I am not with the Shakespearian Company, it has been kind of sad because we have had to cancel one performance and our business has been hampered by the weather. Otherwise, I think it's great. It is a lot better here than in New York."

Joseph Wheeler, Maxwell Lane, retired: "Very enjoyable. It's nice to have a little excitement for a change, shoveling snow and all that. A little white snow to wash our sins away."

Mrs. Michael Romus, 50 Kingston Road, housewife: "One word only, annoying. We have had to shovel out our driveway four times so far this winter."

William Fry, Doylestown Pa., research engineer for Mattworth Project: "Some of us have been out for a while."

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why TOWN TOPICS carries more classified advertising each week in the year than all other Princeton papers combined.

both. It's enjoyable because it binds me to some of the stories my grandfather used to tell. I know the old timers weren't kidding. He used to tell me how they had ox roasts and horse sleighs on the Delaware River. It's annoying because I have to drive 40 miles one way to reach the Forrestal Center."

Mrs. Robert Knight, Plainsboro, homemaker: "When my furnace went off I was rather annoyed but it has given me chance to catch up on my reading and sewing. And I've enjoyed neighbors coming in for tea. I think this winter has made people more self-reliant."

Donald Malcolm, 115 E. Delaware Avenue, Pennington, employee for ETS: "Annoying. My immediate problem is after several months of reading through radio catalogs and finally making a selection of a hi-fi set. I went to New York to order it three days before the storm. Now the delivery and everything else has been delayed."

Mrs. Kurt Dressler, 80 N. Stanwix Drive, housewife: "I enjoyed it. I have three little boys and they have never been so healthy. They go out sledging every day and just love it. We are Swiss and this winter has been no problem to us. A little car trouble but that is all."

Paul Rossi, 27 Lawn Park Avenue, Trenton, truck driver: "Very much annoying in my type of work, as I am a truck driver for Railway Express. Driving is pretty bad in the side streets. Otherwise I don't mind it at all. I'm used to the cold. I was stationed in Newfoundland for four years."

Mrs. J. Barkley Rosser, 218 Prospect Avenue, housewife: "Enjoyable. This winter has been fun for me. It's an adventure. I was born in Florida but my home is in Ithaca, N.Y., and this is nothing compared to winters there. It was 20 below there last week. If you live in Ithaca, it prepares you for winters anywhere."

Bert L. Gulick, 1082 Kingston Road, farmer: "It was enjoyable."

able at first but as the cold weather continued it got quite tiresome, it being the coldest spell in 80 years. Also with modern equipment such as pipes and oil heaters in the barn we have been annoyed somewhat by freezing pipes. Outside of that we take it as a regular winter. We all like a little snow. In days gone by we used to get out sleighs and drive up Nassau Street with horse and bells. Today we can't have those nice times anymore. Your modern automobile rules out sleigh rides and people demand roads be plowed clean immediately. As late as just before the first World War there used to be sleigh ride racing on Nassau Street."

Miss Hazel Benjamin, 142 Linden Lane, librarian: "One's attitude changes with the years. If I were 16, I'd probably find it enjoyable, but as a home owner and a car owner it was too much trouble. I haven't been in my driveway but one week this winter. I have to do all my own shoveling, too."

Daniel Quick, 215 Henry Hall, University student: "Annoying certainly as far as getting around in a car is concerned. Otherwise I haven't minded it other than a little snow shoveling."

Miss Marguerite McClenaghan, 650 Ewing Street: "It's been rather annoying in some ways because I don't like ice or snow. It is hard walking, especially when sidewalks aren't cleaned and there are no pathways. I like clear, cold weather, though, so I haven't minded that part of the winter."

POOL IS POSSIBILITY

For Community Gardens. A committee to investigate the possibility of building a swimming pool at Community Gardens has been appointed by the Princeton Township Board of Recreation Commissioners. The Borough has been invited to send members to this group, which will explore feasibility of a pool and study the expense of other community which have communal pools.

Members of the swimming pool committee are: A. Donald Day, chairman; E. W. Lehmann, Rowan Boone, Klaus Florey, William Lawrence and Mrs. E. K. Gatchell.

The architectural design of recreational facilities in the Community Gardens area is currently under study by the firm of Clarke and Ruanano, landscape architects and engineers. A representative of the firm is consulting with the Township Recreation Board. Also participating in the consultation are Township Committee-men William W. Marvel and Borough Councilor Albert A. Austen.

EXCELLENCE IS THEME

Of Parent Study Groups. The Parent Study Groups of the Littlebrook School, PTA will meet Tuesday, February 21 at 8 p.m. at the school. General theme of the meeting will be "The Pursuit of Excellence," particularly in encouraging children to aim for high standards in their academic studies, crafts, and human relationships.

There will be three discussion groups, considering the best methods of motivating children from the point of view of "The School," "The Home," and "Society." The program will be opened by Mrs. Dennis Flanagan. Program arrangements are under the direction of Mrs. Jerome Lawson, parent study chairman.

SPORTS In Princeton

SPORTS ACTION AHEAD

Marking Alumni Weekend. The biggest athletic weekend of the winter season will start Friday to mark the return of Princeton alumni to the city for Saturday festivities. Basketball games against Columbia and Cornell are on the Edison Gym schedule while strong Harvard teams will provide the opposition in hockey and swimming.

Anticipated victories for the Tiger quintet will strengthen its hold on first place in the Ivy League, a grip that was shaken but by no means jarred loose by last week's loss to Yale at New Haven. The setback will prevent Princeton from becoming the first team in a decade to finish the league season unbeaten, but there is no reason to believe it will not win the Ivy championship.

After running in front of Brown at Providence throughout the season, the Tigers could not contain Yale in the second half. The game was their third in five days and that, combined with the enervating road trip, simply used up the gas tank in the Orange and Black quintet had in the tank.

It was a 66-61 final against Brown, with the victors holding a 41-31 lead at the intermission. The Bruins' rugged

WE Congratulate

BARRY VAN GERBIG
Princeton Goalie

When Yale's hockey team skated off Baker Rink on the short end of a 3-1 score Saturday afternoon, Barry Van Gerbig had compiled an enviable personal record. The Ellis in his final in the Ivy League's first division, but in the three years that Van Gerbig has been Princeton's varsity goalie, they have never beaten the Orange and Black hero.

His latest effort was one of the best of his career: only a deflected shot from a face-off, while Princeton was a man short, prevented him from scoring a shutout. In all, he kicked out 35 shots, many of them made at point-blank range and requiring the quickest kind of reflexes.

While some of the one-sided scores against the Tigers this season shroud the fact, Van Gerbig is one of the best goalies in the hockey-minded northeast. The occasional big margins recorded on the debit side are an indication that the Tigers have sometimes been completely outmanned—not that their goalie had an off night.

A St. Paul's graduate who won identical school athletic awards that his father, Howell Van Gerbig, Princeton '24, had before him, the Tiger hockey captain plans to continue playing the sport after graduation. He hopes for a berth with the U.S. National select; if not with it, certainly with the St. Nick's.

Over the years, Van Gerbig has picked up some 50 stitches.

es necessitated by flying pucks, still prefers not to wear a mask. For 48 hours before Christmas, one such job of minor surgery kept him on a liquid diet.

Barry Van Gerbig has twice been goalie on the second and All-Ivy team and last season was one of two named to the All-East squad. In his first five Ivy games to date, he has allowed only 11 goals—a 2.1 ratio that may well continue against every opponent save title-bound Harvard, All-Ivy selection and a place among the top hockey players in the history of the sport here seem certain to climax his Princeton career.

delphia—the Ellis lost twice by upwards of ten points.

Columbia and Cornell, Princeton's weekend opponents, are unpredictable teams in that both have won on the road while losing at home. The Lions, for example, defeated both Penn and Dartmouth on their own courts but later lost a one-sided contest to the Indians in New York. Cornell trimmed last-place Harvard at Cambridge but dropped an overtime contest to the Crimson Saturday at Ithaca.

A sharpshooting sophomore, 6-3 Fred Portnoy, is Columbia's biggest gun, with senior Ed Auzenberg another threat. The Lions lack both balance and experience, and proved no great problem when the Tigers' opened their title defense in early January with a 10-6 victory at New York.

Cornell is the better team between the two, but having topped the Red at Ithaca last month, Princeton figures to duplicate the victory here.

John Petry, 6-3, and Don Shaffer, 6-4, are the Ithacans' tall men, with veterans Ron Ivovich and Bill Baugh lending experience. Like Yale, Cornell remains in the running but must win Friday at the Palestra and here Saturday if it is to have a shot at the title.

SKATERS TOP YALE
On Fine Game by Cook. A better defensive performance than it has given in several weeks and a standout afternoon credited to Kingston's Johnny Cook carried Princeton's hockey team in victory Saturday over Yale. The Blue came into Baker Rink leading the league with a 4-0 mark and left two points behind Harvard, which whittled Dartmouth, 9-2.

The Tigers got an early jump when Cook and Perry Hall set up Doug Davis for a high shot into the right corner of the Eli cage at 4:25 of the first period. Princeton had much the better of the first 20 minutes, outshooting the losers, 12-7, and generally controlling the action.

A good feed pass from Davis got Cook into the Yale defensive zone with 13 minutes of the second period gone, and he elevated shot to the far corner again beat goalie Charlie Hamlin. The count remained 2-0 as the second round ended.

next Wednesday night at New Haven.

SWIMMERS SCORE

An Records are set. Settling pool records at Hanover in the butterfly, breaststroke and backstroke, Princeton's swimming team topped Dartmouth, 53-42. Jim Griffith's time in the 200-yard butterfly — a fine 2:05.8 — broke his own Princeton mark.

Hanover will come here Saturday as the home apparent to the championship which Yale has held for the past 10 seasons. The Crimson has extreme ability and depth, and last Saturday hung a 56-39 defeat on the Navy team which broke Yale's long string with a one-point victory.

PIDDLE NEXT FOR

Of countless little Tigers, Marooned in a protracted slump that has proved to be an even greater setback for the Little Tigers of Princeton High School will play host to the visiting Peddie School, Friday at 3:15. They will remain home for a Tuesday contest with Hamilton High School, also set for 3:15. Currently in their next to last week of action, the embattled PHS players have not won since December 20, when they beat Haddonfield Central for their only victory in 12 starts. Haddonfield avenged that defeat Friday when it turned the tables on PHS, beating Coach Tony Borzok's players, 62-43. The victory was Central's ninth in 13 games; for the losers, it was their tenth consecutive setback. The contest was played at Haddonfield.

The game was close throughout the first two periods. At the half, the home team led by a slim 21-19 margin. But in the third period Central reeled off seven straight points to put the game out of reach. High scorer for the Blue and White was Charlie Pemberton with 18.

Last Wednesday, PHS dropped a 54-42 decision to Freehold. It was a milestone of a contest originally scheduled for December 13, snow had forced postponement twice.

PHS FRESHMEN NOW 4-1

Top P-die, 56-30. Hope for a brighter basketball picture at Princeton High School in a couple of years are being based on the performance of this season's freshman team, which has won nine of its first ten games. A contest of considerable interest against the Trenton Catholic freshmen is scheduled for this Thursday afternoon on the Elise and White court.

The latest triumph was recorded Friday against the Peddie School freshmen, a 56-30 victory for the team that is coached by Harry Zell, Don Cooper paced the scoring with 12 points, followed by Larry Madden with 10 and John Barker with eight. The half-time score was 30 to 12 for PHS.

HUN SCHOOL JOILED

By Double Setback. Any hope that Hun School may have envisaged of staying among the leaders in the Penn-Jersey League went down the drain last week as it lost two league games to teams it had beaten earlier in the season. As a result, Hun now 3-3 in the League, has been forced to think in terms of next year. "This is the first time that I can remember that my team has outscored the other team, outshot it from the floor and from the foul line, and still managed to lose," these words from Hun coach Dan Barron after a close 47-43 defeat by Germantown in Philadelphia on Friday.

The Red and Black outscored its hosts, 35 to 22; was 8 percent better than its opponent from the foul line and 2 percent more accurate in shooting from the floor. "Why, then, the loss?" "They took more shots than we did," was coach Barron's explanation.

Three days earlier against Bryn Athyn at Bryn Athyn, it was the same story for Hun. In losing by the narrowest of margins, 48-47, Hun sank 49 percent of its shots — its best performance to date — but took only 47 shots, ten less than its opponent. Another factor that hurt Hun, which had beaten Bryn Athyn in its first game of the season, was its poor performance at the foul line. "We missed 16 free throws," said Barron, "and that was the ball game right there."

The Red and Black will attempt to rebound Friday when it meets Solebury at the Princeton Seminary gymnasium.
